

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Looking for a Ph.D. in deep-sea macroevolution?

Dr. Elizabeth Santos at Ohio State University is recruiting Ph.D. students to begin Fall 2027. We are based at the Museum of Biological Diversity and Department of Evolution, Ecology and Organismal Biology.

- Interests in systematics, phylogenetic comparative methods, morphometrics, genomics, diversification (bonus if you like fishes)
- You will have access to:
 - Collaborative museum setting
 - Molecular lab
 - High-performance computing
 - Micro-CT scanner
- Why Ohio State?
 - OSU is ranked 12th among USA universities in research spending
 - Strengths in organismal biology, aquatic ecology, genomics
 - Columbus is 14th largest city in USA by population
 - Affordable large metro area with diverse economy
- Application deadline is November 15th 2026

Contact santos.323@osu.edu with a CV to express interest!

Learn more here!